

The School & Family Works Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children is everyone's responsibility. Everyone who comes into contact with children and their families has a role to play. In order to fulfil this responsibility effectively, all professionals should make sure their approach is child-centred. This means that they should consider, at all times, what is in the best interests of the child. (Keeping Children Safe in Education (2020), paragraph 2)

Introduction

Family Group (FG) is a systemic, therapeutic intervention designed to enable positive change for families with multiple disadvantages. The Family Group intervention takes place in school in a weekly three-hour session and involves a therapist from SFW and a member of school staff working with up to eight families simultaneously. The intervention runs throughout the school year.

The Parent Graduate Group (PGG) is run with a group of parents/carers who have already attended a Family Group with their child. This on-going support is offered to parents/carers who may still be facing complex challenges. If possible, PGG is managed by a FG graduate parent leader and supported by a SFW therapist. PGG meets weekly in a local community centre and provides a safe environment for community members to share experiences, help each other and carry out other activities, decided upon by the group. Despite working in a community space, the responsibility of safeguarding lies with SFW.

The Food Project (FP) has been set up to promote SFW and to support FG parents/carers. It also helps address the food waste problem and distributes good quality food to disadvantaged families within the communities we work in. The stalls are usually run in the playgrounds of our Family Group schools and hosted by Family Group parents, carers and other volunteers.

Within all three services, SFW staff are working with parents as well as children, so this policy covers the safeguarding of adults and children. This policy applies to all staff, including therapists, managers or anyone working on behalf of The School & Family Works.

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is:

- To outline systems to protect all children and adults who attend or are discussed/represented at Family Groups, the Parent Graduate Group and the Food Project and to ensure that everyone is safe and free from harm.
- To outline the roles and responsibilities of SFW staff with regard to safeguarding and child protection in these settings.

- To identify the Designated Safeguarding Leads (DSLs) and explain their roles.
- To describe what should be done if anyone has a concern about the safety or welfare of a parent or child in any of the services.
- To set out the expectations regarding record keeping
- To outline how complaints about SFW staff will be handled
- To consider safeguarding proactively in all the work we carry out.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the SFW Risk Assessments and alongside national guidance and legislation as laid out in Annex 3.

Ethos

Our mission is to create safe, nurturing and dynamic group environments where children and their parents, supported by professionals, gain the skills and confidence they need to change their behaviours and face up to their challenges in a way that achieves real, lasting change.

Our ethos is driven by our belief that relationships are vital in providing positive support for individuals, groups and families. By understanding and recognising the risks that families face and promoting protective factors which can support them, we are proactively creating a safer, more sustainable network in which they can thrive.

Risk and protective factors for CYP's mental health

Mental Health of children in England, PHE 2016

Definitions

Safeguarding applies to all children, young people and adults at risk.

For the purposes of this document, safeguarding children is defined as:

- protecting children from maltreatment
- preventing impairment of children's mental and physical health or development
- ensuring that children grow up in circumstances consistent with the provision of safe and effective care; and
- taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes.

(Keeping Children Safe in Education (2020) paragraph 4)

Child Protection refers to the procedures and support given to those children and young people who have experienced abuse in their lives.

Significant harm is the threshold which justifies compulsory intervention in the best interests of the child or adult. This may refer to a single traumatic event or, more often, the cumulative effect of incidents and/or behaviours over time which significantly impair an individual's physical and psychological development.

'Adults at risk' has replaced the term 'vulnerable adult' in most guidance. For our purposes, an adult at risk of abuse can be anyone over the age of eighteen, including parents/carers, staff or volunteers. Whilst personal characteristics may make an individual more vulnerable i.e. disability and communication difficulties, it is the situation around an individual which may increase risk or place them at potential risk of harm. It is therefore vital to be open to the possibility that any adult may be at risk and that this can be temporary or on-going depending on the support and protective factors around them.

Safeguarding adults involves people and organisations working together to:

- prevent and stop risks and experience of abuse or neglect
- promote adults' wellbeing

Role of Board of Trustees

The School & Family Works, as a registered charity, has an important role to play in safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and adults. The Board of Trustees will ensure that the policies, procedures and training in the organisation are effective and comply with current safeguarding guidance.

The Board will nominate one Trustee to be named as the Board Safeguarding Lead. This person will have suitable experience and training and will meet the SFW Designated Safeguarding Leads regularly to retain an overview of safeguarding issues arising and how protocols are carried out.

The Board members will receive appropriate safeguarding training and notifications at the discretion of the Board Safeguarding Lead. In addition, there will be a standing item on the quarterly Board meeting agenda to update Board members of key safeguarding information.

The Board of Trustees will formally adopt this policy and will review its contents annually or sooner if any legislative or regulatory changes are notified to it by the CEO.

Role and responsibilities of Staff and Designated Safeguarding Leads (DSLs)

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and adults in or associated with our services is the responsibility of the whole SFW staff. All adults working in these groups (including visiting staff, volunteers and students on placement) are required to report instances of actual or suspected abuse or neglect to the appropriate personnel.

All executive staff:

- will be alert to known and potential vulnerabilities in children and adults
- will undertake all reasonable steps to safeguard children and adults
- will take any necessary and reasonable steps to avert preventable harm
- will read Part One of Keeping Children Safe in Education and its updates at the beginning of every academic year
- will work in partnership with other specialist agencies and ensure regular communication is maintained at all times
- will work within the procedures set out by the host school or other organisations within whose location SFW is contracted to deliver services
- will be aware of this policy and its procedures and attend appropriate training as required

The Safeguarding Group is made up of two DSLs, two members of the Clinical Governance Group and the Chair of the Board of Trustees. This team takes lead responsibility for the safeguarding and child protection for children and adults across SFW. They provide advice and support to any staff regarding any safeguarding issues that arise in groups or in activities related to groups.

Role	Name/contact details

Clinical Governance member Member of Safeguarding Group	Carol Halliwell carolh95@icloud.com
Chair of Board of Trustees Member of Safeguarding Group	James Alexander james.alexander.work@gmail.com

When an individual concern/incident is brought to the notice of the DSLs, they will be responsible for deciding whether or not this should be reported to other agencies as a safeguarding issue. Where there is any doubt as to the seriousness of this concern, or disagreement between the DSLs and the member of staff reporting the concern, advice will be sought from the Clinical Governance (CG) members or the LA's Lead Officer for safeguarding in education services. If a child is in immediate danger or is at risk of harm, a referral will be made to Hounslow's Early Help Team or Kingston and Richmond's Single Point of Access (or the equivalent in another LA if the child resides in a different LA) and/or the police immediately.

Although all staff should be aware of the process for making referrals to children's social care and for statutory assessments that may follow a referral, along with the role they might be expected to play in such assessments, the DSLs (and any deputies) are likely to be the most appropriate people to advise on the response to safeguarding concerns. The DSLs or the CG members should always be available to discuss safeguarding concerns. If in exceptional circumstances, the DSLs or the CG members are not available, this should not delay appropriate action being taken. Staff should consider speaking to a member of the Local Authority Safeguarding Team. In these circumstances, any action taken should be shared with the DSLs (or CG members) as soon as is practically possible. Relevant external contacts are as follows:

Safeguarding and Child Protection in action

This section outlines the approach and active steps that SFW staff must take in promoting safeguarding in its services and responding to child protection issues. The recommended 5 Rs (Recognise, Respond, Report, Record, Refer) are used here as an operational framework. An additional 'Reflect' stage, has also been added, in order to support SFW staff, learn lessons and inform future practice.

1. Recognise

Safeguarding is not just about protecting children and adults from deliberate harm. The therapist is also responsible for recognising, identifying and assessing risk and should be alert to any safeguarding or child protection issues arising. The therapist is also trained and experienced in being aware of metaphorical speech and listening out for concerns.

Knowing what to look for is vital to the early identification of abuse and neglect. All staff should be aware of indicators of abuse and neglect (see below) so that they are able to identify cases of children or adults who may be in need of help or protection. If staff are unsure, they should always speak to the DSLs, their PDC, or the Clinical Supervisor.

Types of child abuse and neglect

Abuse: a form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. They may be abused by an adult or adults or another child or children.

Physical abuse: a form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child.

Emotional abuse: the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child's developmental capability as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyberbullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, although it may occur alone.

Sexual abuse: involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Neglect: the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to: provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment); protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger; ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care-givers); or ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

All staff should be considering whether children are at risk of abuse or exploitation in situations outside their families. Extra-familial harms take a variety of different forms and children can be vulnerable to multiple harms including (but not limited to) sexual exploitation, criminal exploitation, and serious youth violence. This is known as Contextual Safeguarding, which simply means assessments of children should consider whether wider environmental factors are present in a child's life that are a threat to their safety and/or welfare.

In addition to these types of abuse and neglect, members of staff should also be alert to the following specific safeguarding issues (see Annex 1 for more details of each issue):

- Mental Health
- Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE)
 - County Lines
- 'Sexting'
- Serious Violence
- Peer on peer abuse
- Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children
- Domestic abuse
- Violence Against Women and Girls (VAWG)
 - So-called 'honour-based' abuse (HBA)
 - Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)
 - Forced Marriage
- Preventing Radicalisation
- Private Fostering

In addition, staff should be particularly alert to the potential need for early help for a child who:

- is disabled and has specific additional needs;
- has special educational needs (whether or not they have a statutory EHCP)
- is a young carer;

- is showing signs of being drawn in to anti-social or criminal behaviour, including gang involvement and association with organised crime groups;
- is frequently missing/goes missing from care or from home;
- is at risk of modern slavery, trafficking or exploitation;
- is at risk of being radicalised or exploited;
- is in a family circumstance presenting challenges for the child, such as drug and alcohol misuse, adult mental health issues and domestic abuse;
- is misusing drugs or alcohol themselves;
- has returned home to their family from care; and
- is a privately fostered child.
- has a parent/carer in custody

\(Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018\)

Safeguarding adults

Although many of the issues mentioned above may also affect parents/carers, we have listed 10 specific types of abuse on adults as outlined in The Care and Support Guidance. These are expanded upon in Annex 2.

1. Physical abuse
2. Domestic violence or abuse
3. Sexual abuse
4. Psychological or emotional abuse
5. Financial or material abuse
6. Modern slavery
7. Discriminatory abuse
8. Organisational or institutional abuse
9. Neglect or acts of omission
10. Self neglect

Care and Support Statutory Guidance (Re-issued 2018)

Key principles when working with Adults at Risk

- Empowerment People being supported and encouraged to make their own decisions and informed consent.
- Prevention It is better to take action before harm occurs.
- Proportionality The least intrusive response appropriate to the risk presented.
- Protection Support and representation for those in greatest need.
- Partnership Local solutions through services working with their communities. Communities have a part to play in preventing, detecting and reporting neglect and abuse.
- Accountability Accountability and transparency in delivering safeguarding

Creating a safe space for families

A key tool for creating a safe space for the parents/carers is the setting of groundrules. Within FG, the therapist will co-produce these with the parents/carers in the first week. As well as setting the expectations for the group, these rules also help to position safeguarding of children at the heart of the group. The rules will include:

- Confidentiality - the conversations shared in this space will not be discussed with anyone outside of this group, unless the therapist is concerned by something they have heard and then they will discuss the issue with the parent who raised the concern to talk about possible next steps and other people who may need to be involved.
- Sharing only what they feel comfortable sharing.
- What happens in this group stays in the group - asking participants to respect the privacy of other members of the group and not talk about their issues outside.
- Respectful and non-abusive behaviour towards all members of the group.
- A discussion/an agreement about how SFW can support parents/carers by informing other professionals (e.g. school staff) of their attendance at the group (this applies to PGG).

2. Respond

If a child or adult is in immediate danger, call the Police on 999

In the event of a disclosure in the group, the therapist will follow the steps below:

1. Let the person know that you heard them and the point they made is important. Explain that you need to think about it together.
2. If disclosed in group, remind everyone that this is a confidential space and this is a confidential piece of information.
3. Explain to the individual that they have shared something which you find concerning and you feel the need to talk about this further. Explain that you want to help them with the issue and, if necessary, you want them to be able to tell the appropriate person and access the right help, but that you will support them doing this.

3. Refer/report

Safeguarding Flowchart (blue form)

This is used by all SFW staff providing services to children and adults as a checklist of action points when a concern is raised.

In Family Group

If a therapist is concerned about any of the children or parents attending FG, they should follow the steps on the Safeguarding Flowchart above.

Any relevant issues that arise in FG fall under the procedural responsibility of the school and, as such, should be discussed with the SBP and the school's DSL. Where a matter requires action, the school's DSL is expected to initiate a referral to Social Care.

In the event of a disagreement or undue delay, where the therapist remains concerned, then the therapist must contact Social Care directly, keeping the school informed. In this instance, the therapist must liaise closely with their Practice Development Consultant ('PDC') and one of SFW's DSLs.

In Parent Graduate Group

If the therapist running PGG is concerned about any of the parents/carers attending the group or any of the children or young people represented by parents/carers at the group, they should speak to a SFW DSL as soon as possible after the group session finishes and follow the steps on the Safeguarding Flowchart above.

In Food Project

If the Food Project Co-ordinator (or any staff related to the Project) is concerned about a child or parent, they should speak to the school link or directly to the school's DSL and follow the steps on the Safeguarding Flowchart above.

Any relevant issues that arise when FP takes place at a school fall under the procedural responsibility of the school, and as such, should be discussed with the school link worker and the school's DSL. Where a matter requires action, the school's DSL is expected to initiate a referral to Social Care.

In the event of a disagreement or undue delay, where the FP co-ordinator remains concerned, then they must contact Social Care directly, keeping the school informed. In this instance, the co-ordinator must liaise closely with the Programme Manager and/or one of SFW's DSLs.

4. Record

In Family Group

The therapist with the concern should fill in the Safeguarding Essential Information form (below) as soon as possible after the event and keep this record secure. Any other records required by the school should be filled in by therapist. Schools may have different platforms on which to record concerns (e.g. CPOMS, Scholarpack). Therapists are responsible for finding out how schools record this information and agreeing with their SBP what information from FG can be recorded. All safeguarding issues need to be recorded but the recording of additional information gathered confidentially in FG needs to be discussed.

Safeguarding - Essential Information Form

Use one of these forms for each family

This form will be kept until the child/young person attains their 21st birthday or, if the child/young person has an Education & Health Care Plan, until they attain their 25th birthday. This is in line with our Data Protection and Confidentiality Policy. Though held by therapists, this form is company property. No information recorded here will be disclosed to any person or agency unless required by a court of law, local authority or where the therapist/company has reason to believe the child or another person is at risk.

We work on the cusp of child protection all the time. All safeguarding issues should be dealt with through the school and recorded here. Use your professional judgement.

In Parent Graduate Group

The Programme Manager for PGG has a weekly check-in with the therapist running the session to talk about any individual issues that may have arisen and to think through and record the risk level of each attendee, using a simple rating guide. This allows the therapist to talk through any concerns and provides an on-going record of members over time. These check-in records are saved on Box.

Weekly PGG check-in

Date: xxxxx

General check-in xxxxxxxxx
Parent	Summary	Rating	Actions
A	xxxxxx		xxx
B	xxxxxx		xxx
C	xxxxxx		xxx

Rating guide:

	Appears to be at immediate risk and/or serious harm
	At risk of harm, but not imminent and possibly not serious
	Concerns about the wellbeing which, if not addressed, may lead to poor outcomes
	No present concerns, but need to keep monitoring

In Food Project

The FP co-ordinator with the concern should fill in the Safeguarding Essential Information form as soon as possible after the event and keep this record secure.

The Food Project co-ordinator has a weekly check-in with the Programme Manager to discuss any issues raised.

5. Reflect

In FG

Therapists have regular 1-to-1s with their PDCs. Safeguarding is a standing item on these agendas as well as at PDC meetings and Ops meetings. Therapists also have monthly group and individual supervision. These discussions will help identify themes or emerging contextual safeguarding issues which can be addressed for the whole team.

In PGG

As well as the weekly check-ins and the monthly supervision for the therapist delivering PG, we have half-termly reviews of the issues arising at PG and the level of support we can provide for the members. In time, we expect this analysis will reveal that certain support, specialist services and/or local organisations should be identified and connected with, so they can be discussed and recommended at sessions. This review will also give the therapist a chance to consider whatever other support/training they might want to further complement this work.

In FP

Safeguarding is a regular item in check-ins with the programme manager.

An on-going task of the DSLs is to foster strong working relationships with as many agencies as possible who can support this work, especially in relation to safeguarding, referrals and support services.

Staffing and Training

All staff working for SFW with children or adults at risks either as direct employees, consultants or sub-contractors are required to have a current criminal record check (DBS enhanced status). For further details, please see SFW's separate Disclosure and Barring Service policy on Box.

Our safer recruitment, induction, supervision and appraisal procedures must ensure that staff and volunteers are suitable and supported to implement safeguarding best practice.

All staff are required to attend appropriate safeguarding training to ensure that they are aware of all relevant legislation, regulations and good practice guidance, including documents in Annex 3.

An annual safeguarding update will take place at the September team meeting. This will include ensuring appropriate safeguarding refresher training has been accessed by all staff, reminding staff of the requirement to read KCSIE annual updates, checking DBS records are up-to-date and identifying any training needs required by the team.

Allegations against The School & Family Works staff

Where an allegation is made against a staff member of SFW, the CEO will decide what internal action is required. If the allegation is against the CEO, then the Chair of the Board will take any necessary action.

The advice and support of the Local Authority Designated Officers (LADOs) may be enlisted.

Possible actions include:

- immediate suspension of the member of staff
- removal of the member of staff to other duties
- continuing as is but with a written risk assessment of the situation in conjunction with the host school or other organisation
- immediate invoking of disciplinary procedures

Members of staff who are suspended, or otherwise implicated in a child protection investigation, will be supported as appropriate, including independent counselling where requested. It is possible that a situation might arise where there is insufficient evidence to support criminal proceedings, but there is sufficient evidence to establish that abuse has occurred.

In that event, depending on the nature of the abuse, the member of staff may be:

- dismissed
- made subject of disciplinary proceedings
- issued with a written warning.

Depending on circumstances, disciplinary procedures may or may not run concurrently with a child protection investigation

Annex 1

Other Safeguarding issues in children that staff should be looking out for:

Mental Health

We are aware that mental health problems can, in some cases, be an indicator that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation. Only appropriately trained professionals should attempt to make a diagnosis of a mental health problem. Our staff members, however, are well placed to observe children regularly and identify those whose behaviour suggests that they may be experiencing a mental health problem or be at risk of developing one. Where children have suffered abuse and neglect, or other potentially traumatic adverse childhood experiences, this can have a lasting impact throughout childhood, adolescence and into adulthood. It is key that our staff members are aware of how these children's experiences can impact on their mental health, behaviour and education. If staff have a mental health concern about a child that is also a safeguarding concern, this will be shared with the SBP with a view to referring to appropriate agencies following the referral procedures.

Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE)

CCE is where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance of power to coerce, control, manipulate or deceive a child into any criminal activity in exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or for the financial or other advantage of the perpetrator or facilitator and/or through violence or the threat of violence. The victim may have been criminally exploited even if the activity appears consensual. CCE does not always involve physical contact; it can also occur through the use of technology.

CCE can include children being forced to work in cannabis factories, being coerced into moving drugs or money across the country (county lines), forced to shoplift or pickpocket, or to threaten other young people. Some of the indicators of CCE are: children who appear with unexplained gifts or new possessions; children who associate with other young people involved in exploitation; children who suffer from changes in emotional wellbeing; children who misuse drugs and alcohol; children who go missing for periods of time or regularly come home late; and children who regularly miss school or education or do not take part in education. Any possible CCE case will be shared with the SBP/school DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies following the referral procedures.

CCE: County lines

Criminal exploitation of children is a geographically widespread form of harm that is a typical feature of county lines criminal activity: drug networks or gangs groom and exploit children and young people to carry drugs and money from urban areas to suburban and rural areas, market and seaside towns. Key to identifying potential involvement in county lines are missing episodes, when the victim may have been trafficked for the purpose of transporting drugs. Like other forms of abuse and exploitation, county lines exploitation can affect any child or young person (male or female) under the age of 18 years; can still be exploitation even if the activity appears consensual; can involve force and/or enticement-based methods of compliance and is often accompanied by violence or threats of violence; can be perpetrated by individuals or groups, males or females, and young people or adults; and is typified by some form of power imbalance in favour of those perpetrating the exploitation. Whilst age may be the most obvious, this power imbalance can also be due to a range of other factors including gender, cognitive ability, physical strength, status, and access to economic or other resources.

Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE)

CSE is a type of sexual abuse in which children are sexually exploited for money, power or status. Children or young people may be tricked into believing they are in a loving, consensual relationship. They might be invited to parties and given drugs and alcohol. They may also be groomed online. Some indicators of children being sexually exploited are: going missing for periods of time or regularly coming home late; regularly missing school or education or not taking part in education; appearing with unexplained gifts or new possessions; associating with other young people involved in exploitation; having older boyfriends or girlfriends; suffering from sexually transmitted infections; mood swings or changes in emotional wellbeing; drug and alcohol misuse and displaying inappropriate sexualised behaviour. A child under the age of 13 is not legally capable of consenting to sex (it is statutory rape) or any other type of sexual touching. Sexual activity with a child under 16 is also an offence. It is an offence for a person to have a sexual relationship with a 16 or 17-year-old if that person holds a position of trust or authority in relation to the young person. Non consensual sex is rape whatever the age of the victim. If the victim is incapacitated through drink or drugs, or the victim or his or her family has been subject to violence or the threat of it, they cannot be considered to have given true consent and therefore offences may have been committed. Child sexual exploitation is therefore potentially a child protection issue for all children under the age of 18.

Where it comes to our notice that a child under the age of 13 is, or may be, sexually active, whether or not they are a member of a SFW group, this will result in an immediate referral to the relevant school or Children's Services. In the case of a young person between the ages of 13 and 16, an individual risk assessment will be conducted in accordance with the London Child Protection Procedures. This will determine how and when information will be shared with parents and the investigating agencies.

Sharing nudes and semi-nudes

Creating and sharing nudes and semi-nudes of under-18s (including those created and shared with consent) is illegal which makes responding to incidents involving children and young people complex. There are also a range of risks which need careful management from those working in education settings.

Sharing youth produced sexual imagery, which can be known as 'sexting' or 'pics' covers the incidents where:

- a person under the age of 18 creates and shares nudes and semi-nudes of themselves with a peer under the age of 18
- a person under the age of 18 shares nudes and semi-nudes created by another person under the age of 18 with a peer under the age of 18
- a person under the age of 18 is in possession of nudes and semi-nudes created by another person under the age of 18

When such an incident involving youth produced sexual imagery comes to a member of staff's attention, this will be shared with the school's DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies following the referral procedures. Further information and advice on youth produced sexual imagery is available in the non-statutory guidance produced by the UK Council for Internet Safety (UKCIS) ‘Sharing nudes and semi-nudes: advice for education settings with children and young people’

Serious violence

All staff should be aware of indicators, which may signal that children are at risk from, or are involved with serious crime. These may include increased absence from school, a change in friendships or relationships with older individuals or groups, a significant decline in performance, signs of self-harm or significant change in wellbeing, or signs of assault or unexplained injuries. Unexplained gifts or new possessions could also indicate that children have been approached by, or are involved with, individuals associated with criminal networks or gangs. We are also aware that fear and a need for self-protection is a key motivation for children to carry a weapon – it affords a child a feeling of power. Neighbourhoods with high levels of deprivation and social exclusion generally have the highest rates of gun and knife crime. Children are more likely to carry knives and other weapons than guns. All staff will be aware of the associated risks and will share any concerns about or knowledge of such children immediately with the school DSL.

Peer on peer abuse

Children are capable of abusing their peers. This can take different forms, such as bullying (including cyberbullying), physical abuse (such as hitting, kicking, shaking, biting, hair pulling, or otherwise causing physical harm; violence, particularly pre-planned, forcing other children to use drugs or alcohol, initiation/hazing type violence and rituals), emotional abuse (blackmail or extortion, threats and intimidation), sexual violence, such as rape, assault by penetration and sexual harassment, such as sexual comments, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment, sexting, sexual abuse (indecent exposure, indecent touching or serious sexual assaults, forcing other children to watch pornography or take part in sexting) and sexual exploitation (encouraging other children to engage in inappropriate sexual behaviour, having an older boyfriend/girlfriend, associating with unknown adults or other sexually exploited children, staying out overnight, photographing or videoing other children performing indecent acts) and up skirting, which typically involves taking a picture under a person's clothing without them knowing, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm. Up skirting is now a criminal offence. Although it is more likely that girls will be victims and boys perpetrators, all peer on peer abuse is unacceptable and will be taken seriously.

We do not tolerate these or pass them off as “banter”, “just having a laugh” or “part of growing up”.

SFW has a strong commitment to anti-bullying and will consider all coercive acts and peer on peer abuse within a Child Protection context. We recognise that some children will sometimes negatively affect the learning and wellbeing of other children and their behaviour will be dealt with under each school’s behaviour policy. Any possible peer on peer abuse case will be shared with the school DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies following the referral procedures.

Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children

Sexual violence and sexual harassment can occur between two children of any age and sex. It can also occur through a group of children sexually assaulting or sexually harassing a single child or group of children. It can occur online and offline (both physically and verbally). It is more likely that girls will be the victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment and more likely it will be perpetrated by boys. Children who are victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment will find the experience stressful and distressing. This will affect their educational attainment. Staff will share any concerns about or knowledge of such incidents immediately with the DSLs with a view to ensuring that support systems are in place for victims (and alleged perpetrators). We take these incidents seriously and ensure that victims are protected, offered appropriate support and every effort is made to ensure their education is not disrupted. Where necessary, we will work with schools and any relevant external agencies to address the issue, which may include a referral to the Local Authority and reporting to the Police.

Domestic abuse

Domestic violence and abuse is any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive, threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are, or have been, intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality. The abuse can encompass, but is not limited to psychological, physical, sexual, financial and emotional. All children can witness and be adversely affected by domestic abuse in the context of their home life where domestic abuse occurs between family members. Exposure to domestic abuse and/or violence can have a serious, long lasting emotional and psychological impact on children. In some cases, a child may blame themselves for the abuse or may have had to leave the family home as a result. If members of staff have a concern about or knowledge of any domestic abuse incidents, they will share it immediately with the school DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies.

Violence Against Women and Girls (VAWG)

VAWG is defined as any act of gender-based violence that results in, or is likely to result in physical, sexual or psychological harm or suffering to women including threats of such acts, coercion or arbitrary deprivation of liberty, whether occurring in public or private life. VAWG is the umbrella term which brings together multiple forms of serious violence such as crimes committed in the name of “honour”; domestic abuse; female genital mutilation (FGM); forced marriage; sexual violence, abuse, exploitation and rape; stalking; harassment; trafficking for sexual exploitation; prostitution. If members of staff have a concern about or knowledge of any VAWG incidents, they will share it immediately with the school DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies.

So-called 'honour-based' abuse (HBA)

HBA includes incidents or crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community, including female genital mutilation (FGM), forced marriage, and practices such as breast ironing. Abuse committed in the context of preserving "honour" often involves a wider network of family or community pressure and can include multiple perpetrators. All forms of HBV are abuse (regardless of the motivation) and will be handled and escalated as such. If members of staff have a concern about or knowledge of a child that might be at risk of HBA or who has suffered from HBA, they will share it immediately with the school DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies.

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)

FGM is a procedure where the female genital organs are injured or changed and there is no medical reason for this. It is frequently a very traumatic and violent act for the victim and can cause harm in many ways. The practice can cause severe pain and there may be immediate and/or long-term health consequences, including mental health problems, difficulties in childbirth, causing danger to the child and mother; and/or death.

FGM is a deeply embedded social norm, practised by families for a variety of complex reasons. It is often thought to be essential for a girl to become a proper woman, and to be marriageable. The practice is not required by any religion.

FGM is an unacceptable practice for which there is no justification. It is child abuse and a form of violence against women and girls.

FGM is prevalent in 30 countries and is a deeply rooted practice, widely carried out mainly among specific ethnic populations in Africa and parts of the Middle East and Asia. While FGM is concentrated in countries around the Atlantic coast to the Horn of Africa, in areas of the Middle East like Iraq and Yemen, it has also been documented in communities in Colombia, Iran, Israel, Oman, The United Arab Emirates, The Occupied Palestinian Territories, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Pakistan and Saudi Arabia. It has also been identified in parts of Europe, North America and Australia.

FGM is illegal in the UK. It is estimated that approximately 60,000 girls aged 0-14 were born in England and Wales to mothers who had undergone FGM and approximately 103,000 women aged 15-49 and approximately 24,000 women aged 50 and over who have migrated to England and Wales are living with the consequences of FGM. In addition, approximately 10,000 girls aged under 15 who have migrated to England and Wales are likely to have undergone FGM.

Some professional (including teachers) have a mandatory duty to report cases of FGM. Although, SFW staff do not fall into such a category of regulated practitioners, we still have a general responsibility to report cases of FGM, in line with wider safeguarding frameworks. If a staff member becomes aware that FGM has been carried out on a girl under 18, they should still share this information with the school and SFW DSLs immediately.

Forced marriage

Forcing a person into a marriage is a crime in England and Wales. A forced marriage is one entered into without the full and free consent of one or both parties and where violence, threats or any other form of coercion is used to cause a person to enter into a marriage. Threats can be physical or emotional and psychological. A lack of full and free consent can be where a person does not consent or where they cannot consent (if they have learning disabilities, for example). Nevertheless, some perpetrators use perceived cultural practices as a way to coerce a person into marriage. We note The Forced Marriage guidance Any possible forced marriage case will be shared with the school DSL with a view to referring to appropriate agencies following the referral procedures.

Preventing Radicalisation

The Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 places a duty on specified authorities, including local authorities and childcare, education and other children's services providers, in the exercise of their functions, to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism ("the Prevent duty"). Young people can be exposed to extremist influences or prejudiced views, in particular those via the internet and other social media. Organisations can help to protect children from extremist and violent views in the same ways that they help to safeguard children from drugs, gang violence or alcohol.

Examples of the ways in which people can be vulnerable to radicalisation and the indicators that might suggest that an individual might be vulnerable:

- spending increasing time in the company of other suspected extremists;
- changing their style of dress or personal appearance to accord with the group;
- their day-to-day behaviour becoming increasingly centred around an extremist ideology, group or cause;
- loss of interest in other friends and activities not associated with the extremist ideology, group or cause;
- possession of material or symbols associated with an extremist cause (e.g. the swastika for far right groups);
- attempts to recruit others to the group/cause/ideology;
- or communications with others that suggest identification with a group/cause/ideology.

Example indicators that an individual has an intention to use violence or other illegal means include:

- clearly identifying another group as threatening what they stand for and blaming that group for all social or political ills;
- using insulting or derogatory names or labels for another group;

- speaking about the imminence of harm from the other group and the importance of action now;
- expressing attitudes that justify offending on behalf of the group, cause or ideology;
- condoning or supporting violence or harm towards others; or plotting or conspiring with others.

Example indicators that an individual is capable of contributing directly or indirectly to an act of terrorism include:

- having a history of violence;
- being criminally versatile and using criminal networks to support extremist goals;
- having occupational skills that can enable acts of terrorism (such as civil engineering, pharmacology or construction);
- or having technical expertise that can be deployed (e.g. IT skills, knowledge of chemicals, military training or survival skills).

The examples above are not exhaustive and vulnerability may manifest itself in other ways. There is no single route to terrorism nor is there a simple profile of those who become involved. For this reason, any attempt to derive a 'profile' can be misleading. It must not be assumed that these characteristics and experiences will necessarily lead to individuals becoming terrorists, or that these indicators are the only source of information required to make an appropriate assessment about vulnerability.

It is important to note that children or adults experiencing these situations or displaying these behaviours are not necessarily showing signs of being radicalised. There could be many other reasons for the behaviour. However, any SFW therapist who suspects radicalisation must first discuss this with the SBP, their PDC and school DSL.

Private Fostering

Private fostering is when a child under the age of 16 (under 18 if disabled) is cared for by someone who is not their parent or a 'close relative'. This is a private arrangement made between a parent and a carer, for 28 days or more. Close relatives are defined as step-parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, uncles or aunts (whether of full blood, half blood or by marriage). Great grandparents, great aunts, great uncles and cousins are not regarded as close relatives.

The law requires that councils should be notified if anyone is looking after someone else's child for 28 days or more. The purpose of the council's involvement is to support the child and private foster family (and wherever possible the biological parent/s) with any issues arising. These may be practical issues such as benefits, housing, immigration or emotional issues such as keeping contact with biological family, maintaining cultural identity.

If we become aware of a child in a private fostering arrangement, the DSLs will notify the relevant local authority immediately.

Annex 2

Safeguarding issues in adults that staff should be looking out for:

Types of physical abuse

- Assault, hitting, slapping, punching, kicking, hair-pulling, biting, pushing
- Rough handling
- Scalding and burning
- Physical punishments
- Inappropriate or unlawful use of restraint
- Making someone purposefully uncomfortable (e.g. opening a window and removing blankets)
- Involuntary isolation or confinement
- Misuse of medication (e.g. over-sedation)
- Forcible feeding or withholding food
- Unauthorised restraint, restricting movement (e.g. tying someone to a chair)

Types of domestic violence or abuse

Domestic violence and abuse includes any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive or threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are or have been, intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality. It also includes so called 'honour' -based violence, female genital mutilation and forced marriage.

Domestic violence or abuse can be:

- psychological
- physical
- sexual
- financial
- emotional

Types of sexual abuse

- Rape, attempted rape or sexual assault
- Inappropriate touch anywhere
- Non- consensual masturbation of either or both persons
- Non- consensual sexual penetration or attempted penetration of the vagina, anus or mouth
- Any sexual activity that the person lacks the capacity to consent to

- Inappropriate looking, sexual teasing or innuendo or sexual harassment
- Sexual photography or forced use of pornography or witnessing of sexual acts
- Indecent exposure

Types of psychological or emotional abuse

- Enforced social isolation – preventing someone accessing services, educational and social opportunities and seeing friends
- Removing mobility or communication aids or intentionally leaving someone unattended when they need assistance
- Preventing someone from meeting their religious and cultural needs
- Preventing the expression of choice and opinion

- Preventing a person from accessing their own money, benefits or assets
- Employees taking a loan from a person using the service
- Undue pressure, duress, threat or undue influence put on the person in connection with loans, wills, property, inheritance or financial transactions
- Arranging less care than is needed to save money to maximise inheritance
- Denying assistance to manage/monitor financial affairs
- Denying assistance to access benefits
- Misuse of personal allowance in a care home
- Misuse of benefits or direct payments in a family home
- Someone moving into a person's home and living rent free without agreement or under duress
- False representation, using another person's bank account, cards or documents
- Exploitation of a person's money or assets, e.g. unauthorised use of a car
- Misuse of a power of attorney, deputy, appointeeship or other legal authority
- Rogue trading – e.g. unnecessary or overpriced property repairs and failure to carry out agreed repairs or poor workmanship

Types of modern slavery

- Human trafficking
- Forced labour
- Domestic servitude
- Sexual exploitation, such as escort work, prostitution and pornography
- Debt bondage – being forced to work to pay off debts that realistically they never will be able to

Types of organisational or institutional abuse

- Discouraging visits or the involvement of relatives or friends
- Run-down or overcrowded establishment
- Authoritarian management or rigid regimes
- Lack of leadership and supervision
- Insufficient staff or high turnover resulting in poor quality care
- Abusive and disrespectful attitudes towards people using the service
- Inappropriate use of restraints
- Lack of respect for dignity and privacy
- Failure to manage residents with abusive behaviour
- Not providing adequate food and drink, or assistance with eating
- Not offering choice or promoting independence
- Misuse of medication
- Failure to provide care with dentures, spectacles or hearing aids
- Not taking account of individuals' cultural, religious or ethnic needs
- Failure to respond to abuse appropriately
- Interference with personal correspondence or communication
- Failure to respond to complaints

Types of neglect and acts of omission

- Failure to provide or allow access to food, shelter, clothing, heating, stimulation and activity, personal or medical care
- Providing care in a way that the person dislikes
- Failure to administer medication as prescribed
- Refusal of access to visitors
- Not taking account of individuals' cultural, religious or ethnic needs
- Not taking account of educational, social and recreational needs
- Ignoring or isolating the person
- Preventing the person from making their own decisions
- Preventing access to glasses, hearing aids, dentures, etc.
- Failure to ensure privacy and dignity

Types of discriminatory abuse

- unequal treatment based on age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion and belief, sex or sexual orientation (known as 'protected characteristics' under the Equality Act 2010)
- Verbal abuse, derogatory remarks or inappropriate use of language related to a protected characteristic
- Denying access to communication aids, not allowing access to an interpreter, signer or lip-reader
- Harassment or deliberate exclusion on the grounds of a protected characteristic
- Denying basic rights to healthcare, education, employment and criminal justice relating to a protected characteristic
- Substandard service provision relating to a protected characteristic

Types of self-neglect

- Lack of self-care to an extent that it threatens personal health and safety
- Neglecting to care for one's personal hygiene, health or surroundings
- Inability to avoid self-harm
- Failure to seek help or access services to meet health and social care needs
- Inability or unwillingness to manage one's personal affairs

Annex 3

Publications and legislation to be read and referred to in conjunction with this policy.

For children:

Publications

- Working Together to Safeguard Children \(2018\)
- Keeping Children Safe in Education \(September 2023\)
- Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment between children in Schools and Colleges 2021

Key Legislation

- The Children Act 1989

Section 17 Duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children who are “in need”

Section 47 Duty to investigate whether a child is at risk of serious harm

- Local Government Act 2000

Effective joint working across local authority sectors

- Education Act 2002

Duty on Local Education Authorities to exercise safeguarding functions for children and young people up to the age of 18 who are in full-time education

- Children Act 2004

Established a range of safeguarding and child protection provisions and duties on local authorities and partner agencies

- Children and Social Work Act 2017

Set up local safeguarding partnerships and further provision about the regulation of social workers

For adults:

- The Care Act 2014, which came into effect in 2015, is the primary legislation in England for the support and protection of adults. It represents the most significant reform of care and support in more than 60 years, putting people and their carers in control of their care and support.

<http://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2014/23/contents/enacted>

The legislation sets out how people’s care and support needs should be met and introduces the right to an assessment for anyone, including carers and self-funders, in need of support. The act’s “wellbeing principle” spells out a local authority’s duty to ensure people’s wellbeing is at the centre of all it does with greater emphasis on outcomes and helping people to connect with their local community. It seeks to ensure that people’s eligibility for services will be the same across England.
